NOTES

Lingering symptoms such as cough or loss of taste or smell can persist beyond the isolation period, and if present, are not reasons for continuing isolation.

High-risk settings are acute care, personal care homes and other congregate settings, such as group homes, corrections, etc. Those at higher risk of severe outcomes include those who are immunocompromised, have underlying health conditions, and are older.

In most situations, public health officials will no longer be notifying close contacts. Confirmed COVID-19 cases will be asked to notify their own contacts.
